of this list we will mail to each one a 1900 almanac stamped with the agent's name and address as agent, so that whatever business originates from this advertising will go direct to him. Sending these circulars will cost us a vast sum of money, and in return all that we ask of the agent is that he be careful in selecting the names, giving only one from a household, and grown people preferred. We would ask them also to keep a copy of every list sent-for a two-fold purpose. First-To prevent duplicating the names to us. Second-So they will be able to call on the prospective customers within a few days after they have received the almanacs and endeavor to make a sale. We do not want this to stop at one list, but to send them often. You will be notified when circulars are mailed, so you will know exactly when to call on the people. Of course these circulars will be the means of increasing your sales materially, and to be prepared for this increased demand you should carry a heavy stock of all of our remedies, as nothing injures one's business so much as to be unable to supply goods when they are wanted. You can readily understand that we would send no wholesale prices with circulars of this nature, and the only object we can have in view is to help you increase your business, and indirectly our own. This almanac we send is a new one and strictly up to date. It gives the various historical events for every day in the year, the moon's phases, and the list of eclipses that will occur in 1900. To enable the people to preserve these books and have them as ready reference at all times, we have attached a neat loop to the upper left-hand corner, so it can be hung in a safe and conspicuous place. People will take care of a book of this character, and every time they refer to it "OUR NATIVE HERBS" and its agent will be brought forcibly to their notice.

THE ALONZO O. BLISS COMPANY.

Gentlemen: The half gross of "OUR NATIVE HERBS" in Tablets and Powder safely to hand.

I beg to thank you for the copies of The Post sent week by week. It is a grand paper to enlighten and help us as agents to push forward and increase our sales. I find that persistent canvassing is most productive. I make a point of getting inside all residences before stating my business. I then explain the medicine-its properties-what it has done and is doing locally and generally-and ask them to thoroughly read the booklet. Using strong arguments in favor of the medicine, I usually sell a good many boxes at sight, and in calling again my next journey many people take the medicine on the recommendation of their neighbors who have been supplied on my first visit. I have used the medicine and know its worth-it sells entirely on its own good merits. I have to-day many people in my territory who would on no account be without "OUR NATIVE HERBS," owing to its life-saving properties. Remaining yours JOHN BROOK.

THE ALONZO O. BLISS COMPANY.

Gentlemen: Will you kindly send on four dozen Tablets and two dozens of the Powder. Inclosed please find £6.0.0.

I have been a canvassing agent for the last eleven years, and have handled various kinds of goods with average success. Two years ago I received one of your pamphlets and wrote for the local agency, which was granted. I immediately started to canvass in the territory assigned me, and "OUR NATIVE HERBS" gave general satisfaction from the first, and my trade commenced to increase nicely.

I have tried various methods of introducing the medicine, but I find that the good old plan of persistent and close personal canvassing brings about the best results. I do not spend one day at home and then one canvassing. I make it my duty to use every opportunity that comes in my way. In pushing "OUR NATIVE HERBS"

I have a great opportunity of bettering the condition of humanity as well as making a living easily and honorably. I consider that I should miss a lifetime chance if I ceased to sell "OUR NATIVE HERBS." I appreciate the Tablets. They are doing the same good as the Powder, and most of my customers like them much better. The time will come very soon in my territory when people will use nothing but the Tablets.

Since this great compound of "OUR NATIVE HERBS" has been brought to light by The Alonzo O. Bliss Company, and the generous way in which they employ men and women to carry it before the public eye, we, as men and women, should never stand idle until this medicine is used in every home, being, as it is, one of the greatest blessings to mankind. I am, dear sirs, yours obedient-JOHN KENDRICK.

Chats With Our Agents.

You all read last week's issue of The Post, and we hope you realize the golden opportunity that is before you to win a valuable prize this year. Each and every one of our representatives in all countries is eligible to this contest, and those who do not make a great effort to be one of the fortunate winners are not doing their duty toward themselves or their agency. Just think, you can go out and one good day's energetic canvassing may net you $50 more than the actual profit on the goods sold, as the twelfth prize represents just that much money, and the average canvasser had about as soon have the price in the commodity he is selling as the cash. You should bear in mind that these prizes will be awarded according to the bona fide sales made. Be careful and have every return card sent in to us, so that there will be no mistake in counting up your sales. We publish herewith letters from two of our British agents. Mr. Brook, you will notice, has been benefited physically as well as financially, and is a very enthusiastic advocate of "OUR NATIVE HERBS." He says it saved his life. They both buy in half-gross lots, and are earnest canvassers and newspaper advertisers, realizing that these two methods go hand in hand in introducing a remedy. They have adopted both of them, and, as a result, they have crades that any man might be proud of. You will notice Mr. Kendrick gives some good advice as to canvassing. He is an advocate of persistent and personal calls soliciting business; but he is always careful not to annoy one. He simply calls, tells the party what he is selling, how it is made, what it has done for their neighbors, and that it will do the same for him. A supply of our 1900 almanacs goes to every agent ordering goods from Washington from now on. The various branches will be supplied later. We have increased the quantity furnished every agent, as we want them to place an almanac in every household in their section, and if we do not send sufficient to enable them to do this, they will confer a favor upon us by advising us of the shortage when they order again, and we will be more than pleased to make it up. A canvassing agent should remember that every piece of literature he puts out advertising the remedy he is selling, and himself as its representative, is bound to help his trade. If any of our representatives do not understand about this special circular scheme, they should write Washington at once for blanks and full information. They should bear in mind that all lists from the United States must be sent to Washington, D. C., those in Canada to Montreal, and the English agents will send theirs to London, W. C., 199 Strand.
